

According to a mutual agreement between the ordre des experts-comptables and the Quebec CPA, professionals from Quebec must present a file containing the proof of competence or evidence of formal qualifications allowing the pursuit of the profession in Quebec.

If they fulfill the requirements, they have to pass an aptitude test in business law, social law and tax law which takes place once a year in Paris and have to follow a three days e-learning training on professional regulation and ethics. Then, they may apply for their registration at the Conseil régional de l'ordre to be able to practise in France.
