

Chartered Accountants Ireland – Gaining an audit license

Members of professional bodies in the EU/EEA who are registered auditors in their own country may gain access to Irish practice rights on completion of the required aptitude test in Irish tax and law. Such persons will then register with our Professional Standards Department to gain Irish audit rights; however they are not admitted as Irish chartered accountants, but will be subject to our regulation.

Members of ICAEW and ICAS who qualified prior to Brexit may have access to Irish audit rights if certain conditions are met.
